Changing environment and awareness in north - east India

A message has come from God that " I have created this nature for not only human beings. Here is involved all are the animals too. You both have the same rights to take enjoy and profits from this nature. it's very beautiful. Because I composed it with a lot of passion and wanting.

Please don't harm this environment. it's so precious thing of the universe, which you get as a gift."

here we go to know about the environment of the North East India. north East the zone of India is how much beautiful and greenery, its unbelievable. North East of India spread over an area of 262179 square kilometre does plays a important rolled to attract tourists. Arunachal Pradesh, Assam, Manipur, Meghalaya, Mizoram, Nagaland, Sikkim and Tripura are the state of north East India are full filled by beautiful mountains, rivers, waterfalls, evergreens forests, paddy farms, tea garden coal mine, and even minerals etc. it is golden gift for north East that here is full filled the natural resources. But Ever since the development of technology has started. The people is mostly using the natural resources in unlimited. some resources in our environment have a limit and one day it's going to finish forever. Due to its excessive use, there is a fear to end it and at the same time it also harms the environment and this is main topic in this essay which we discussing, that why the environment has been changed and how can we spread awareness to secure the environment in people?

changing is the nature of environment and there should be. But in which way it's has been changing. we should give importance on it. although! as we can see the changing environment of north east is not to be secure. it has been increasing the much amount of pollution which is harmful for the environment.

let's know about the types of pollution, causes of pollution and the results -

# Air pollution: as we know that we can't live without oxygen. Oxygen is life. There is only 21% oxygen in our atmosphere! and it is very less. It is better for us that we keep it safe. We already know how much oxygen was needed in the corona pandemic and crores of people died due to low oxygen. But in the present day the air pollution is being increased due to some main causes like

We should all follow the rules and our duty which i have given before about rules and regulations. In fact, it is a competition and all the students will write an essay about this topic with effective line and it's also right. But after the competition everyone will forget to follow the rules and their own duty about environment. And this is not right. However, I think that this competition has been organized so that we can discuss about this topic and also share awareness of it in future. So therefore the result of this competition will announce on the date of 5th June which day is know as the world environment day. So I am very thankful that has been organized an essay competition. So I wish you all happy world environment day in advance. thanks!
